Important 2023 tax information for investors in a TIAA-CREF mutual fund that has elected to pass through foreign tax credits.

Dear Investor:

You have received this letter because it may contain specific information about your investment in a TIAA-CREF mutual fund.

If you received a Form 1099-DIV, Box 1b shows the portion of the amount in Box 1a that is “qualified dividends,” which are dividends earned from most domestic corporations and from qualified foreign corporations. These dividends may be eligible for lower long-term capital gains tax rates. Among other requirements, you must hold your shares in the distributing mutual fund for at least 61 days during the 121-day period that began 60 days before the ex-dividend date in order to be eligible for the reduced rates on qualified dividends

For 2023, the funds listed in the attached table have elected to pass through to their respective shareholders the opportunity to claim foreign taxes paid by the funds as either a credit or a deduction.

Generally, you will obtain a larger federal tax benefit by choosing to take a credit; nonetheless, many investors will find it much simpler to take an itemized deduction. If you take an itemized deduction, you should transfer the information from Form 1099-DIV Box 7 to IRS Form 1040.

If you choose to claim a foreign tax credit, you may be required to complete IRS Form 1116 (Form 1118 for corporations). If you did not hold your shares for 16 days surrounding a dividend, you may not be eligible to claim a foreign tax credit.

Shareholders who are individuals that are claiming a credit of no more than $300 ($600 if married and filing jointly), and may choose to claim the credit directly on Form 1040 without completing Form 1116. See the instructions for the Foreign Tax Credit in Form 1040. Shareholders who make this election cannot carry over excess foreign taxes to or from a tax year to which the election applies. Individuals can consult IRS publication 514, “Foreign Tax Credit for Individuals,” to receive further information about the process.

Form 1099-B reflects proceeds from any fund share redemptions and exchanges in 2023, and the cost basis, gain/loss and holding period associated with the transactions. Please note that the gain/loss will only be reported to the IRS for covered shares (those shares purchased and sold subsequent to January 1, 2012).

For further information, please see the Form 1040/1040A instructions or consult your professional tax advisor.

Please keep in mind that we are providing this tax information as a service, and it should not be considered tax advice. For your specific situation, we recommend you consult a professional tax advisor. This letter is for your information only and is not furnished to the Internal Revenue Service. Please retain this document for preparation of your tax return.

Shareholders electing to claim the foreign tax credit

The table below provides the foreign-sourced income percentages needed in order to compute your eligibility on either Form 1116 (“Foreign Tax Credit”) for individuals or Form 1118 (“Foreign Tax Credit-Corporations”) for corporate shareholders. Please note that you no longer have to report the foreign income or taxes passed through from a Regulated Investment Company on a country-by-country based on your tax return. The foreign-sourced QDI column provides the percentage of the sources of foreign income that is allocable to “qualified dividend income” (“QDI”).
